

36%

of organizations said
incorporating new and
emerging technologies
is a key driver of growing IT complexity.

The modern IT environment is so much more diverse—and complex—than it was even a decade ago, spanning multiple technology platforms, technologies, and locations. As higher education organizations lean into technologies such as AI, the need for a common infrastructure platform that can handle any application, location, or data moves from a “nice to have” feature to an essential one.

This InstaGraphic was created by Omdia on behalf of

NUTANIX

LEARN MORE