

Move forward together

A unified hybrid cloud for LG

Moving 90% of LG's business to the cloud within the next three years is foresighted. But your move will be fraught with many challenges and adversities. As they say, Rome was not built in a day. Usher in the next stage of growth with a technology partner that understands your internal challenges and your aspirations for the future.

What can Nutanix do for you?

Nutanix offers varied solutions across the stack to streamline your data infrastructure. Our technology was built upon hyperconverged infrastructure (HCI) which accelerates the deployment of virtualization and can be implemented with most off-the-shelf servers. We also offer software to unify your hybrid cloud environment, and to reduce the complexity of managing your network.

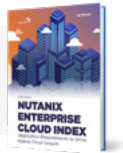

In mid-2019, Vanson Bourne conducted research on behalf of Nutanix to learn about the state of enterprise cloud developments. The research team surveyed 2,650 IT decision makers globally and published the results of the study in the Nutanix Enterprise Cloud Index 2019 report.

About 85% of the enterprises said that hybrid cloud was the ideal IT model for their organization. However, 69% complained that their current IT vendors did not have the right solutions to build and manage a hybrid environment.

More significantly, 73% of the respondents reported that they would be moving some applications from the public cloud back on-premises, underscoring the need for enterprises to adopt a hybrid cloud model to maintain this flexibility of data movement.

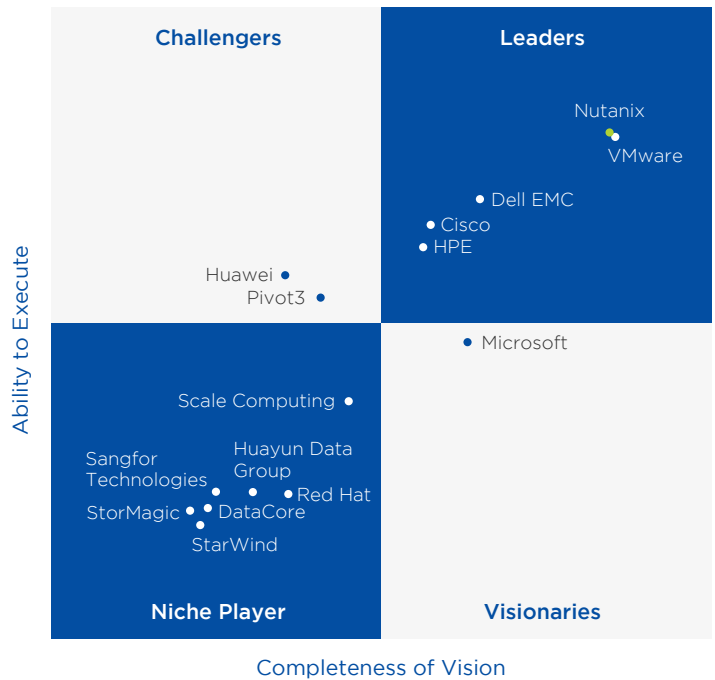

The results clearly show the need for a cloud strategy that can unify a disconnected hybrid cloud fabric. As a front-runner in data infrastructure innovation, Nutanix Enterprise Cloud may just be the solution you need.
