

OVERVIEW

Nutanix Go enables organizations to easily acquire, provision, and operate cloud-driven datacenter infrastructure for pre-defined term lengths using small monthly commitments.

IT professionals struggle to make accurate long-term investment decisions when their business is increasingly unpredictable. Datacenter over-provisioning can be prohibitively expensive, while purchasing too little infrastructure introduces the risk that IT is unprepared to support the business. This purchasing rigidity is giving way to more flexible IT financial modes reducing risk and improving business agility.

The flexibility and choice from Nutanix Go reduces infrastructure costs, complexities and risks associated with new IT projects, and when running time-bound workloads.

- Reduce Risk: Deploy new on-premises infrastructure in the near-term, and later move workloads to long-term infrastructure once capacity requirements are better understood
- Eliminate Idle Infrastructure: Time-bound workloads require infrastructure for short periods of time; deploy what you need for when you need it
- Simplify Infrastructure Lifecycles: Avoid migration complexities for short-term public-cloud hosted workloads and data by keeping them hosted on-premises
- Accelerate Time-to-Value: Eliminating large capital expenditure agreements accelerates business sign-off and infrastructure deployment times
- Reduce Cost: Nutanix Go can be half the cost of comparable public cloud deployments
